This application is a 371 of PCT/EP98/06159 filed on 9/29/1998. Claims 1-3, 5-6, 8-30 is pending. Claims 1-3, 5-6, 8-11, and 14-30 are rejected and claims 12 and 13 are withdrawn from consideration as non-elected invention. Arguments are found persuasive therefore rejection is withdrawn. Following are the new art rejections.

Instant claims are drawn to vitamin D compounds of formula, where R1 and R2 can be exocyclic methylene group, Z represents OH, R3 can be CH3, R4 can H, V is OH and W is H or together may form a double bond, and Q is straight or branched hydrocarbon which can be substituted by OH at any position.

(I) of present invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-3, 5-6, 8-11, and 14-30 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Calverly et al. (US Patent 5,401,731). The reference teaches vitamin D3 compounds of formula (I), which embraces presently claimed invention. See the entire document especially lines 20-61, col. 1, abstract and claims.

(I) of prior art

where R1 and R2 can form can form C3-C8 saturated or unsaturated carbocyclic ring, n can be 0 or 1, m is 0 or 1-7.

Instant claims differ from the reference in having different generic scope. For example Q, Z, V, W Y1, Y2 R3 and R4 are variety of substituents in the present invention.

Instant claims are broader than the prior art. The substituents as presently claimed are taught by the prior art. For Applicant's convenience structures are drawn to easy comparison.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to select any of the species of the genus taught by the reference, including those instantly claimed, because the skilled chemist would have the reasonable expectation that any of the species of the genus would have similar properties and, thus, the same use as taught for the genus as a whole.

One having ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to select the claimed compounds from the genus in the reference since such compounds would have been suggested by the reference as a whole. It has been held that a prior art disclosed genus of useful compounds is sufficient to render prima facie obvious a species falling within the genus. In re Susi, 440 F.2d 442, 445, 169 USPQ 423, 425 (CCPA 1971), followed by the Federal Circuit in Merck & Co. V. Biocraft Laboratories, 874 F.2d 804, 10 USPQ 2d 1843, 1846 (Fed. Cir. 1989).

In the light of the forgoing discussion, the Examiner's ultimate legal conclusion is that the subject matter defined by the instant claims would have been obvious within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

No claim is allowed.
